

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A connection between a base transceiver station and a subscriber station is allocated a transmission rate for signal transmission from the base transceiver station to the 5 subscriber station. The transmission rate is allocated based on a connection-specific level of path loss. A radio communication system is also provided.

MB/kc